Calendar

foreward

In a few years many of us will have forgotten some of the happy hours that were spent in Delaware Academy.

But in years to come, as we leaf through this book, all our school life will be brought back to us. Thus we hope that we have given you a review of 1954-55 that can always be treasured, one that will serve as a memorandum of the many good times spent in D.A.

dedication

To you, Mr. Keith, the staff is happy to dedicate the 1955 Kalends.

You have shown so much interest in our activities both in and out of school. Many times you have to give up evenings for endless rehearsals; you spend many long hours planning and preparing for the bands' numerous public appearances.

In spite of all your work as director of the bands, you are never too busy to help us out in other ways.

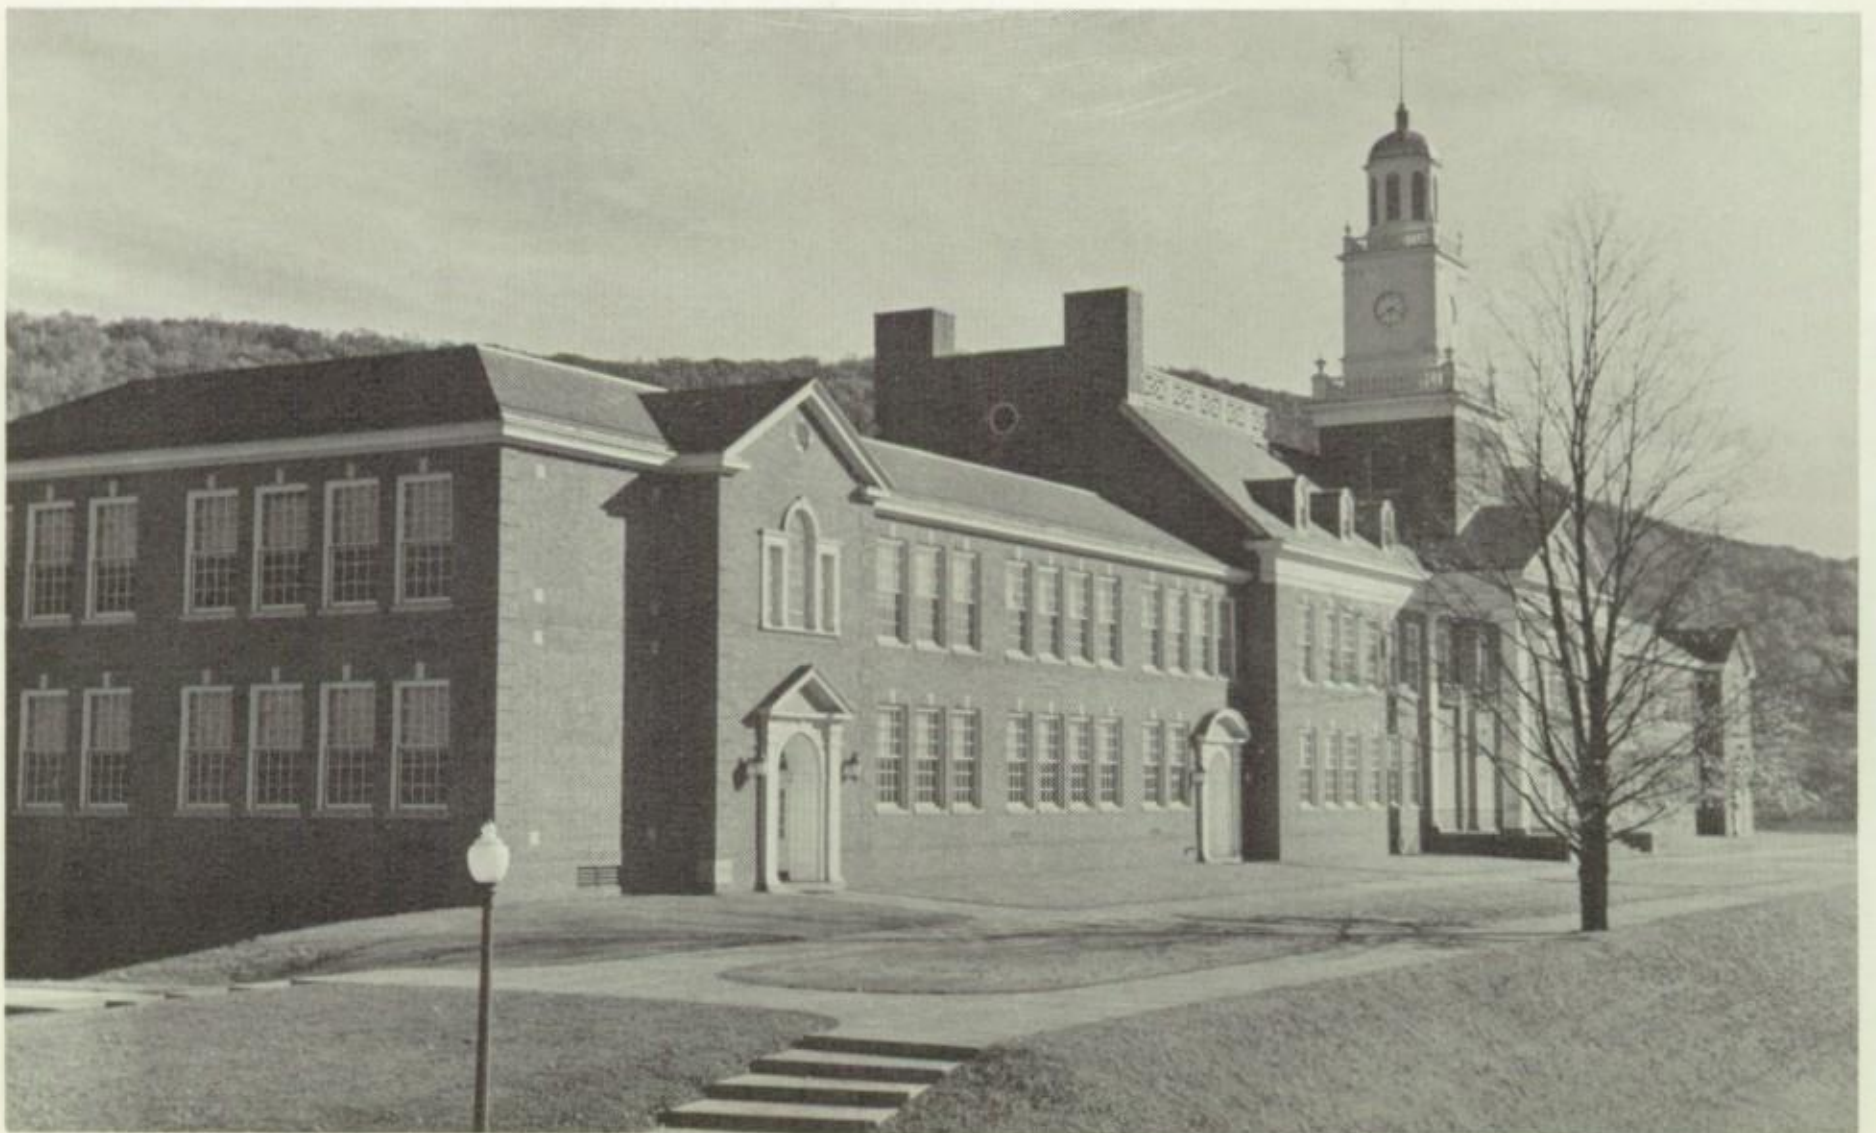

All your work is sincerely appreciated and from us comes a hearty "thanks."

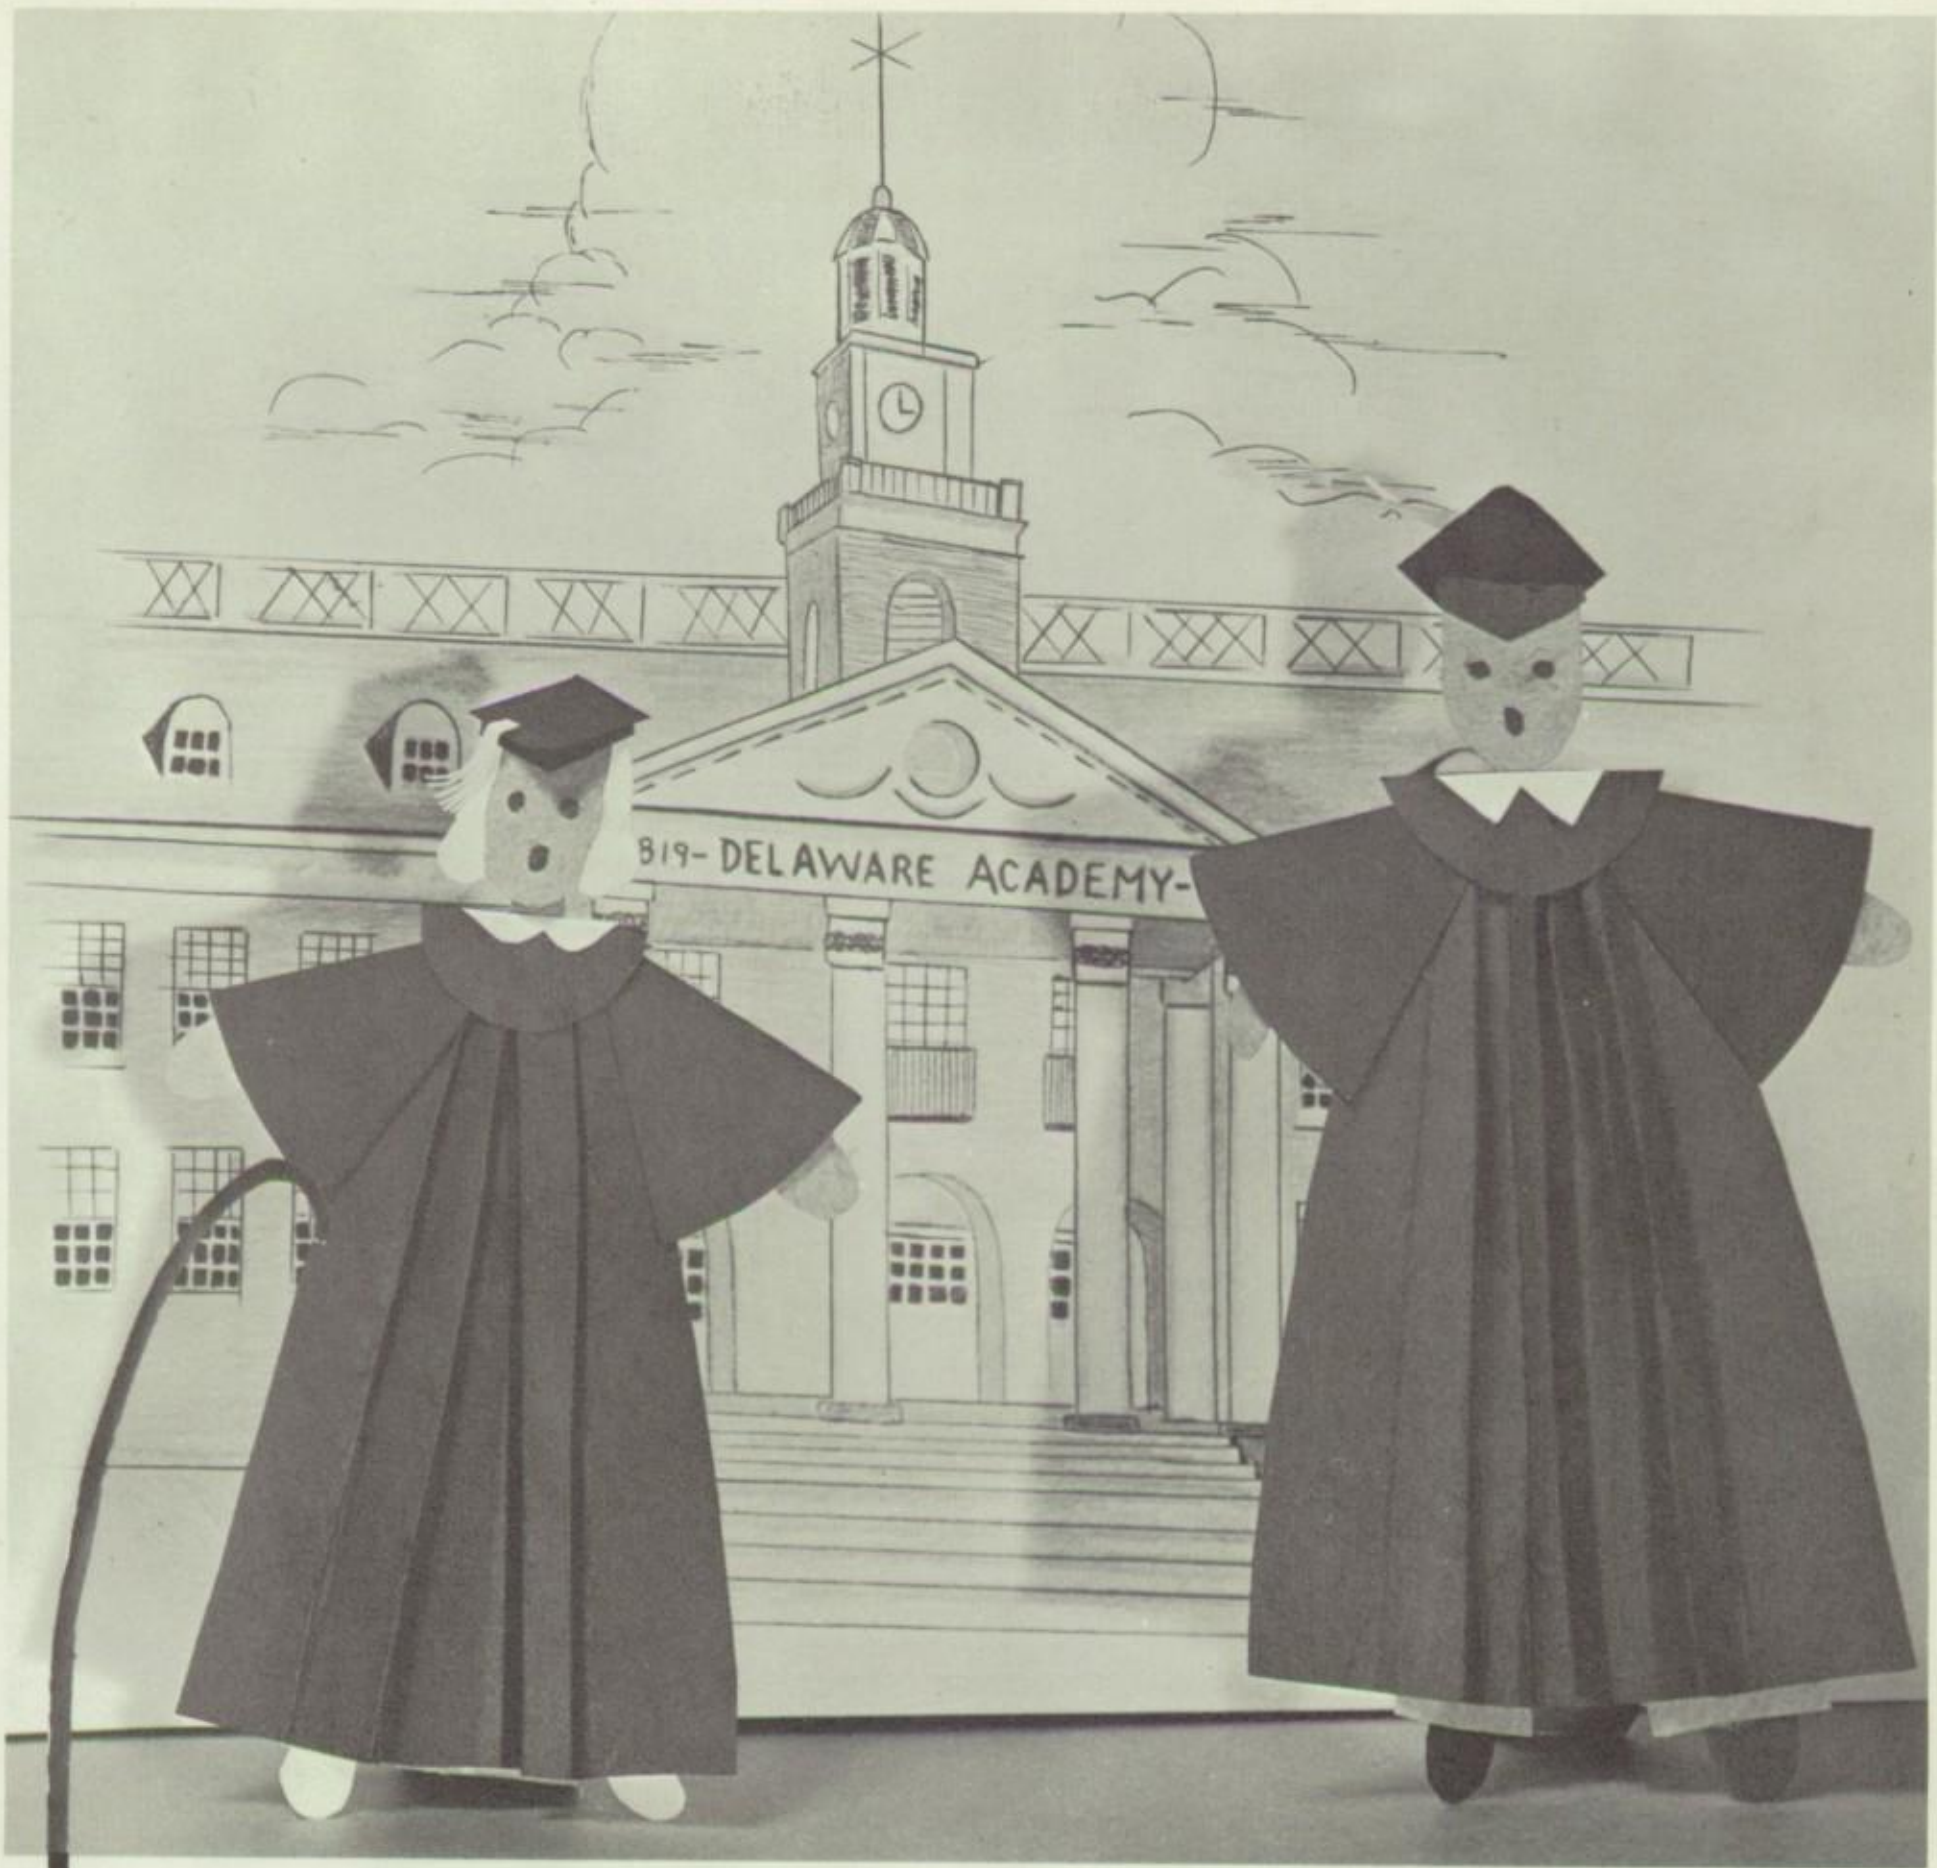

alma mater

Just above our dear old campus, With its trees so tall, Stands our noble Alma Mater, Glorious to all.

Lift your voices, Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, Freshmen, too; To our dear old Alma Mater, Ever be ye true.

Melody from "Music of Many Lands and Peoples." Used by permission of Silver, Burdett and Company.

Another class has reached the eve of graduation. The Seniors of this year have been an asset to D.A. — a class with pep and enthusiasm supported by an undecurrent of purpose and stability — the Seniors will remember and be remembered for their class successes: the Turkey Trot of their Sophomore year, the Junior Banquet, Play and Prom, the Senior Play, the Senior Ball — and for their part in the many school activities: the school picnics, the dances, the pep rallies, the ball games, the athletic meets, the diverse clubs — most of all, the Seniors will remember their Senior Trip — the Seniors were outstanding in sports, art, music, scholarships, student affairs, publications and service to the school - - - -

R.R. DeGelleke, supervising principal

To The Seniors
 Congratulations to the members of the Class
 of 1955 upon their
 achievements, thereby
 earning the diploma
 of our school.

Another milestone
 in your life has
 been successfully
 reached and
 passed.

May I hope that
 during the years spent
 at D.A. you have
 gained knowledge,
 experience and ideas
 which will bring
 you a full and
 profitable life in
 the years to come.

R.R. DeGelleke

The office staff is indispensable to D.A. The tireless energy, never-ending patience
 and unfailing memories of these two keep our students
 well-informed about back excuses, money, passes, social events and schedules. They always seem to be helping us with something. Mountain Ear and Kalends work, typing notices or balancing class funds are right down their line.

To the teachers and advisors of D.A. belong the hard, sometimes impossible job of "eddycatin" the students (or rather pupils) of the surrounding area. As many teachers will attest, this is usually a full-time job. Don't think it's entirely unappreciated.

honor society

D. A.'s chapter of the National Honor Society picks the cream of the crop, according to character, leadership, service and scholarship. This honor goes to only a small minority considered by their teachers and classmates to be worthy of the position.

A quartet is usually composed of four, but when a dozen or so can make prettier music, why wonder at the name? The string ensemble, Mr. Knight's "brain child," has our nine outstanding string instrumentalists as its members. The Music Festival and various school functions are only a part of the many activities in which the orchestra participates.

Musical groups abound at D.A., and these three, polished and professional, are always in demand. The annual vesper service gives them a chance to "show-off" their remarkable skill. In the spring, the Double Trio and the Girls Choir journey to the music festivals in hopes of winning an "A" rating.

The Future Farmers of America in D.A. are continuously busy at their many "extra" projects - such as the pancake supper - besides learning the correct methods of farming. The FFA, the "twin" club to the FFA, tries to develop the skills that home-makers will need - and that includes the sponsoring of a annual dance.

Painting, working with clay, printing posters, and designing clothes and houses are included in the everyday work of our artistically-minded students. Technical knowledge plus talent is necessary to produce the fine results we often see around D.A.'s halls.

Secretaries -to-be master the
"touch system"

The secretaries and businessmen of tomorrow find the commercial course a must. The interminable hours of work put into business law, business math, bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing make D.A.'s business students busy, but, oh, so capable!

Budding artists

masterpieces

Citizenship education, in the form of civics, geography, and local, American, and world history, is one of those courses that require a good memory and a well-written review book!

A World History

English, the basis for all our communications with others, is the only required four year course of study. The projects, the grammar, the spelling demons, the literature - all these prepare us for life when we are through high school.

Seniors work
on their research
papers.

Science is a favorite subject at D.A. — from the fundamentals learned in junior high to the equations that just don't balance in chemistry. Lab periods for the chemistry students are spiked with coffee and Prof's stories.

Shop workers paint

Santa Claus

The fine handiwork produced in the wood and metal shops shows not only that D.A.'ers have skill along this line, but that they also spend long hours perfecting their projects. Girls, too, enjoy "trying their hand" at shopwork.

Parabolas, hexagons, and signed numbers challenge the brains of D.A. scholars. From seventh grade arithmetic to trig and solid geometry, math enthusiasts are forever working hard to solve the x's, y's, and z's.

Plane geometry poses no
problems for these two

Homemaking, one of the most valuable courses taught at D.A., is a boon to those girls destined to be the wives of tomorrow. New fields of nutrition, home decoration, and good grooming have been added to the list of domestic arts studied.

"Space men" — really ag boys — learning the technique of repairing farm machinery

What could be more fitting than for a farmer's son to study ag? Up-to-date courses in poultry raising, animal husbandry, crops, and production provide the would-be farmers with valuable information.

Latin scholars struggling with their declensions and conjugations

Latin and French courses keep D.A.'s students busy translating Caesar's conquest or La Fontaines fables. Projects, plays, foreign magazines, games, and songs keep the classes lively and interesting. And what fun it is to experiment with "fractured French"!

 second place.

The Leaders Club also planned and participated in several small playdays in volleyball, basketball, softball, bowling and tennis. A large field day was held at Delhi on May 21st with several schools included.

The Leaders Club is a somewhat select group of girls chosen for leadership (hence the name), sports ability and sportsmanship. They plan the gym demonstration and the various play-days held at D.A.
